

The 2015 -2018 Comprehensive Study of The Pleasant Bay Estuary

We are undertaking ambitious research projects to better understand the Bay.

Through its generous members, the Friends of Pleasant Bay has a 29-year History of funding projects that have positively impacted the Bay. From land protection, by local Land Trusts, to local educational support and environmental research grants covering Bay features from horseshoe crabs to coastal changes.

Now the FOPB Board of Directors is taking a more proactive approach by initiating 4-studies being carried out by the Center for Coastal Studies in Provincetown, MA. These studies were developed in cooperation with the Pleasant Bay Alliance, the 4-town governmental agency, and State environmental scientists. These projects will provide important baseline information as we look at environmental changes going on now and into the future.
